With this paper, we attempt to give you deeper insight into the importance of your efforts in raising your children with a proper philosophy and method of solving problems. The problem all parents face is that of helping their children develop a future time view as an intellectual attribute in their psychology. We have noticed through the lessons of history that money unearned will destroy those individuals as well as those societies that inherit it. This is a clearly demonstrated phenomenon. Failure to recognize this fact is setting the stage for the destruction of your children, and thus by extension, the destruction of your own ^{own} mortality. Our job is to aid you in perpetuating those virtues of hard work for noble causes that are your life-after-death through the works of your children.

- Step I Re-read the Flint School position paper on Student Money Husbandry.
- Step II Study the paper entitled Short Course on Intellectual Survival.
- Step III Plan your character goals for your children so that they are compatible with the ideas expressed in the Your Children's Future workshop.
- Step IV If you have sizable funds you wish to transfer to your children, draw up a program of experiences that will prepare your children to receive the money without destroying them. Propose conditions that must be met by them to receive the funds. These conditions might include:
- A. A conversation with the child, something like this: You can prepare to be poor -- by just living day to day, letting life happen to you like a tumbleweed. OR, you can prepare to be rich (Believe me, rich is better.) But there are certain character traits you must develop; there is a certain routine or system you must follow in order to realize this expectation of yourself.
