re: YCF Files

Dear PK:

Aat long last, here is the replacement thumb drive with the promised YCF files.

I saved these originally in Word Press format, as I wanted the contents to be searchable by keyword. Another Word Press feature was, I could add my marginal notes, as an author looking back and adding my comments on material I wrote decades earlier. I think they have a certain value to Flints. They are indicated by small red circles near the text in question. But today I find that I can't open these comments, as I lack a current Word Press command file. In retrospect, I wish I had used a more universally known/used format, like pdf.

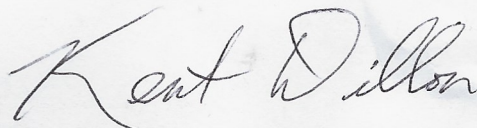

The Adults Only Reading Program was originally published as a large wall poster. I have copied it piece by piece, as I don't know how to copy it all in one pass. You can reconstruct by printing the separate pages, then trimming and pasting/taping them together. Or perhaps you know a better way...

Feel free to post these on your FS website if you wish. You were right; they do no good just sitting on my computer.

Please give Anita my contact info; I would be happy to re-connect with her.

Thank you.

Cordially,
